GENERAL NEWS.

Arthur's Sudden Change of Course Towards South America.

BLAINE'S VIEWS HELD UNTIL THE LATTER'S RETIREMENT.

A Large English Colony to be Planted in Dakota—Death of Mrs. Blackford, an Old and Well Known Actress.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Tribune's editorial: The accountgiven in Washington dispatches that the instructions to Trescott were considered and amended by President Arthur disposes of the silly story that he was not fully aware of their purport and approved them when in a state of official myopia. It appears that the document was twice read to him. At first reading he made four alterations in it and suggested the addition of a paragraph, which Blaine himself wrote after leaving the instructions read. As thus amended he gave him his unqualified approval. Furthermore their general scope was the subject of conversation between the president and Trescott before they were put upon paper, and the sentence which Frelinghuysen afterward made the sentence of his revoking dispatch was written by Trescott after that conversation, and not by Blaine. Nothing now remains to be said about the remarkable change which came over our diplomacy after Frelinghuysen succeeded Blaine, except that the president altered his mind. All of a sudden, a bold and possibly too aggressive policy, for which the president was responsible, was converted in a day into one of timid and retreating conservatism. Perhaps Blaine made a mistake in too vigorously opposing the annexation of Peruvian territory to Chili, but his policy was Arthur's policy up to the time he left the state department, and if it was not in all respects wise Arthur was fully committed to it. We have not heard any good excuse for the conduct of the administration in blowing hot and cold upon a question of grave diplomatic importance in the short space of two months.

The Chicago Salmon Trouble Ended.

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—The Tribune says: A San Francisco dispatch Sunday stated that the government officials had seized canned salmon received by a local firm, and that the business of shipping inferior Sacramento river or Puget sound salmon under the labels of the Fraser River Canning Co. has been systematically carried on by parties in San Francisco and Chicago. It also charged that a similar course had been pursued regarding California canned fruits. J. K. Armsby, of this city, informed a reporter that the salmon probably referred to was received by his firm last September and delivered to a wholesale grocer to whom a carload had been sold to arrive. The salmon were put up for a local firm by A. Lusk & Co., of San Francisco, who used old Fraser river labels which they owned because they happened to be out of the regular labels used by the firm. The fish were Sacramento river salmon, and Mr. Armsby said he would have preferred to have had his own labels on the cans, as the goods would have sold better, being superior to Fraser river fish, which are not known here at all but are merely shipped through in bond to Canada and England. The Fraser river salmon come from the British possessions and are subject to duty, which in this case would have amounted to about $1000. The government was probably told that payment of duty had been evaded and made the seizure or rather notified the party who bought the property that the duty had not been paid. But the officials were soon convinced that the fish were caught and canned in Uncle Sam's dominions, and dismissed the matter. Mr. Armsby claims that a rival house in San Francisco has sent these reports afloat.

A Disgraceful Scene.

NASHVILLE, TENN., Feb. 6.—A disgraceful scene was enacted at the Grand opera house here to-day. At the hour appointed for the sale of tickets to Booth's entertainment an immense assemblage filled the street and sidewalk. An arrangement had been made by which the crowd was to go in detail. The jam was such, however, that the large doors gave away with a crash, and the crowd rushed in pell-mell, yelling at the top of their voices. Men were run over and trampled, faces bruised, arms broken and pockets picked. Seats were upturned and the stage was packed with the crowd, forcing postponement of sale of tickets till to-morrow.

Held for Charges.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Feb. 7.—A week ago last Tuesday the body of Wm. G. Mulray, who died in San Francisco was received in this city. The remains were accompanied by two women who have refused to pay the transportation charges from this place to New York, and consequently the body remains here awiting payment of such charges. On the coffin box appears the name "Wm. G. Mulray, in care of James Fogarty, 434 street, New York city." If the body is not claimed Wednesday next it will be buried here in the Potter's field.

A Sharper Arrested.

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—The sheriff of Bon Homme county, Dakota, has arrested Chas. T. McCoy on a charge of removing the county bond register, which shows a bonded indebtedness of $40,000, bearing 10 per cent. interest, though there is little to show for such expenditures, nor for what or to whom the bonds have been issued. McCoy is the same man who tried to float $17,000 in Douglass county bonds, and he is now in Washington with a Dakota delegation and is a candidate for marshal of southern Dakota.

Five Bodies Found.

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 7.—Advices from the Midlothian mines state that the body of Engineer Joseph Cournow, white, was found 40-lay about 50 feet from his engine. Baptist ministers have resolved to take up a collection in their respective churches here Sunday next.

BATTLE OF THE BRUISERS.

Sullivan Wins the Fight in the Ninth Round.

RYAN BADLY USED UP IN TWENTY-SIX MINUTES.

The Affair Takes Place in Mississippi City, Miss.—Summary of the Fight, and Condition of the Participants.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

MISSISSIPPI CITY, Miss., Feb. 7.—Train from New Orleans with people to witness the fight between Ryan and Sullivan arrived here about 11 o'clock. The crowd consisted of sporting men from all sections of the country and many prominent citizens of New Orleans. A large number of newspaper correspondents representing prominent newspapers of the north and west were also in attendance. Sullivan arrived on the ground at 10:30 and took a room at the hotel opposite Ryan and within a hundred feet of the ring, which was pitched in front of Barnes' hotel in a grove of live oaks. Sullivan cast his cap into the ring at 11:45 by the judges' time, amid great enthusiasm.

One hundred dollars to eighty was accepted on Sullivan. Sullivan was seconded by Billy Madden, Joe Goss and Arthur Chambers. Ryan entered the ring at 11:55 amid enthusiastic cheers, accompanied by Tom Kelly and Johnny Roach. Ryan won choice of corners, and took the southwest corner, and Sullivan then had the sun in his face. The men then made ready to commence business, but there was difficulty about a referee. Both parties agreed on Jas. D. Houston, of New Orleans, who refused to act. Charles Bush also refused, when the dispute was settled by choosing Alex. Brewster, of New Orleans, and Chuck Handy, of Vicksburg, jointly.

At exactly two minutes of 12 o'clock the men toed the scratch and shook hands for the first round. Both men sparred cautiously for opening. Ryan led with his right, but fell short, catching in return a hot one from Sullivan s left on the face. Exchange then became short and quick. Sullivan finally knocked him down with a severe right-hander on the cheek; time, 30 seconds.

Second round—Sullivan at once rushed to his man and let go his left, which caught Ryan on the jaw. Ryan closed with him, and they wrestled for a fall, which Ryan won, falling heavily on his opponent; time, 25 seconds.

Third round—The men came together with a rush and Sullivan, after making three passes, knocked Ryan down with a terrible right hand on the chest. Time, 10 seconds.

Fourth round—The men sparred for perhaps a second or two, both feinted and then Sullivan went for Ryan's face, putting in stinging blows square on his nob. Before this closed slugging then commenced and Sullivan got in a fair one, and had no cause to complain in regard to a recent speech of General Skobeloff. Bismarck being acquainted with this reply, dispatched a second telegram to Von Schweinitz, who thereupon informed Von Griers that he (General Von Schweinitzitz) might have to announce his recall if Russian support of the agitation against Austria was expressed or even showed excessive toleration. Von Schweinitzitz was authorized to state Germany regarded her interests identical with those of Austria.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.

A favorable report was made on the bill to compensate ex-Judge Peck in the Wilderness case in 1872.

A bill providing the departure in locality road was reported favorably.

A bill passed (2 pm.) authorizing the secretary of war to let the society of the Army of the Cumberland $500, for a bronze monument.

Coke spoke on the Morrill tariff bill, favoring revision by a committee of both houses. He having collected his speech, several members of no general interest will speak.

Cockrell from the committee on military affairs reported favorably a joint resolution authorizing the secretary of the treasury to ascertain the amount expended by Kansas in repelling Cherokees and suppressing Indian hostilities.

The pension arrears resolution was made unfinished business. Adjourned.

House.

At the conclusion of the morning hour Page called up for special order the bill to restrict Chinese immigration.

Prescott antagonized this with a motion to take up for consideration the appportionment bill.

After some discussion the speaker ruled the appportionment bill, as presented, a privileged question.

Page raised the question of consideration, when the house decided—163 to 63—to consider the appportionment bill.

The bill reported for the erection of a public building at Denver, Col., was referred to committee of the whole.

A resolution was adopted directing the postmaster general to furnish information concerning the subletting of contracts for carrying mails.

The majority and minority reports from the banking committee enabling national banks to extend their corporate existence were placed on the calendar.

Ryan, of Kansas, reported the Indian appropriation bill. It appropriates $4,820,268, $921,510 less than estimates and $256,000 greater than the amount appropriated for the current year. The number of agents is reduced from 67 to 60.

The appportionment bill was again taken up and amendments offered fixing the number of representatives at 327, 321, 305, 310, 324 and 320.

Horr, of Michigan, opposed the bill as an outrage on common sense, and criticised the speech of Prescott, of New York, for the intimation that appportionment shall be based somewhat upon the wealth of the various states. New York was wealthy because small states had labored to build her up, and it did not come with good grace from her to attempt to strike down the political power of those little states in a manner so wrong and so unjust upon its face.

Pending discussion the house adjourned.

Chances of the Chinese Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—As foreshadowed in these dispatches, the Chinese bill in the house of representatives had to give way to-day to the appropriation bill, which even if a special order assigning this day for consideration of the Chinese bill had not contained a reservation in its favor, would nevertheless have been entitled to priority under Speaker Kolfer's ruling declaring it a matter of high privilege.

Page then asked the unanimous consent of the house to make the order concerning the Chinese bill a continuing order, which would give it precedence over all other business, except appropriation bills; but Representative John Ellis, of Louisiana, peremptorily objected. This leaves only two courses open for the friends of restriction on this bill. The first is to make a motion next Monday, or on some subsequent Monday, to suspend the rules and adopt a resolution by a two-thirds vote assigning some future day for consideration of the Chinese bill, and to continue each day thereafter, when there is a "morning hour," that the house shall proceed to consider business on the public calendar, and if this motion prevails, which requires only a majority vote, successive motions can then be made to set aside each bill ahead of the Chinese bill until it is reached and disposed of. Page intends to adopt the second course above indicated, holding the other in reserve for use in case of need. The objection interposed by Ellis was inspired by an indefinite opposition to the bill on his part, which several Pacific coast members have vainly endeavored to remove by private argument. His opposition to the rules that have prevailed in the consideration of this bill will be needed to replace negro field hands on the plantations of Louisiana and other southern states, and he is apparently so wedded to this idea that it seems impossible to move him even by reference to the disastrous failures which have attended several experiments of that kind. Already an impression seems to exist in some quarters as evidenced by California papers just received here, that the Pacific coast delegation are not acting in harmony for the attainment of legislation to carry the Chinese treaty into effect. This is a total mistake. There is no petty jealousy among them in regard to this matter, and all are united in endeavoring to secure the one great object of restricting Chinese emigration to the fullest extent possible under the treaty or against the widespread hostility or indifference of eastern the left hand of the heck, where he had been struck a terrible blow in the second round, gashed lips and a cut over one eye, together with considerable contusions about the body. After examination the doctor stated that Ryan was suffering from hernia and must have been in great pain during the fight. He advised him to forsake the prize ring. Ryan stated that he intended giving up pugilism, as he did not think he was suited by nature for that line of business. He stated that he considered Sullivan a born prize fighter and a very formidable opponent in the ring. In regard to his defeat Ryan spoke very calmly, admitting that he had been fairly whipped, but at the same time stating that he had been sick and during the night and was partially disabled early in the action by the falling of his trunk. He said he suffered great pain and felt in no condition to fight, and but for the fact that the people would have considered him a coward he would not have appeared in the ring under any circumstances.

Johnny Roach, Ryan's trainer, and W. E. Harding, representative of his backer, said that they considered the fight a fair one, and had no complaint in regard to a recent speech of General Skobeloff. Bismarck being acquainted with this reply, dispatched a second telegram to Von Schweinitz, who thereupon informed Von Griers that he (General Von Schweinitzitz) might have to announce his recall if Russian support of the agitation against Austria was expressed or even showed excessive toleration. Von Schweinitzitz was authorized to state Germany regarded her interests identical with those of Austria.

Points from Pomeroy.

POMEROY, W. T., Feb. 6.—The commissioners of Garfield county yesterday morning accepted the bonds of sheriff and auditor and adjourned till afternoon; but sheriff Mustard served an injunction issued by Judge Wingard to stay further proceedings and show cause why they should not meet in Patsha City. It will be heard at Dayton on next Tuesday. The unconstitutionality of the act creating the county is the plea of contestants.

OPENING OF PARLIAMENT.

Queen Victoria's Speech.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

LONDON, Feb. 7. Parliament reassembled today. The queen's speech reads as follows:

"My Lords, and Gentlemen: It is with much satisfaction I again invite your advice and assistance in the conduct of public affairs. I have given my approval to the marriage between Prince Leopold and Princess Helena, of Waldeck. I have every reason to believe this will be a happy union. I continue in relations of cordial harmony with all foreign powers. The treaty for the cession of Thessaly to Greece has now been executed. In the main the transfer of sovereignty and occupation was effected in a manner honorable to all concerned. In concert with the president of the French republic I have given careful attention to affairs of Egypt where existing arrangements imposed on me special obligations. I shall use my influence to maintain the right already established, whether by firmans of the sultan or by various international engagements in a spirit favorable to the good government of the country and prudent development of its institutions. I have pleasure in informing you that restoration of peace beyond the north-western frontier, together with continued internal tranquility, plentiful seasons and increase of revenue has enabled my government in India to resume works of public utility which had been suspended and devote its attention to measures for the further improvement of the condition of the people.

The convention with the Transvaal has been ratified by the representative assembly and I have seen no reason to qualify my anticipations of its advantageous working. I have however to regret that although hostilities have not been renewed in Basuto Land, that country still remains unsettled. Estimates for the service of the year are in an advanced stage of preparation and will be promptly submitted. My communication with France on the subject of a new commercial treaty has not yet been closed, but will be prosecuted by me. The trade of the country, both domestic and foreign, has for some time been improving, and the mildness of the winter has been eminently suited to farming operations. Better prospects are, I trust, thus opened for the classes immediately concerned in agriculture. The public revenue, which is greatly though not always at once affected by the state of industry and commerce, has not yet exhibited an upward movement in proportion to their increased activity. The condition of Ireland at this time as compared with that which I described at the beginning of last year shows signs of improvement and encourages the hope that perseverance in the course you have pursued will be rewarded with the happy results which are so much to be desired.

Justice has been administered with great efficiency, and the intimidation which had been employed to deter occupiers of land from fulfilling their obligations and from availing themselves of the act of last session, shows upon the whole diminished force. My efforts, through the bounty of providence, have been favored by an abundant harvest in that portion of the kingdom. In addition to a vigorous execution of the provisions of ordinary law, I have not hesitated, under painful necessity, to employ largely the exceptional powers intrusted to me for the protection of life and property, by two acts of the last session. You will be invited to deal with proposals for the establishment in English and Welsh counties of the local self-government which has so long been enjoyed by towns, together with the enlarged powers of administration and financial charges, which will be the opportunity of considering, both as to town and county, what may be the proper extent and most equitable and provident form of contribution from imperial taxes in relief of local charges. Those proposals, in so far as they are financial, will apply to the whole of Great Britain. It will be necessary to reserve the case of Ireland for separate jurisdiction. In connection with the general subject of local administration, she says she will present again bankruptcy and election bribery bills and other measures.

Gladstone Favors the Admission of Bradlaugh.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—In the commons Bradlaugh addressing the house from the bar declared most solemnly that a parliamentary oath would be binding upon his honor and conscience. Gladstone maintained the house could only see the formalities of administering the oath observed and could not inquire as to Bradlaugh's opinion. Northcote's motion was then adopted, 298 against 237. The speaker then ordered Bradlaugh to withdraw. Bradlaugh at first refused, but withdrew upon the motion being agreed to ordering him to withdraw, and which Gladstone made as he would not oppose. Paxton gave notice of a bill to repeal the coercion act.

In the house of lords in debate on the address in reply to the queen's speech, the marquis of Salisbury (conservative) made a violent attack on the government. Earl Granville foreign secretary replied.

SUPREME COURT.

SALEM, Feb. 7.

Supreme court met at 10 o'clock. Present, Lord, C. J., Watson, J.

J. M. Stockpole, respondent, vs School District No. 5, appellant, appeal from Union county; judgment of the court below reversed.

Opinion by Lord, C. J.

SYLLABUS.

Claims against a school district should be presented to the board of school directors before the commencement of an action thereon, and the omission of such allegation in the complaint renders the same demurrable.

Such agreement imposes no hardship on the claimant and affords the school district an opportunity to pay without suit.

John H. White, appellant, vs Ben Marcis, respondent, appeal from Union county; judgment of the court below reversed.

Ordered that the court stand adjourned until to-morrow at 10 o'clock A. M.

A Severe Earthquake.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7.—From Chinese exchanges the news is only now received that on the 10th of July an earthquake occurred in District Kaochow. A large number of men, women and children were killed. The earthquake was followed by a rain storm, which inundated a portion of the country and drowned several persons.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, FEB. 8, 1882.

THE QUESTION OF VACCINATION.

Whether vaccination really serves a useful purpose or not is, strange to say, under serious discussion. That is, the utility of vaccination as a means of protection against the small pox is not only questioned but confidently denied by men whose intelligence and attainments are everywhere recognized and respected. That weight of authority and of experience are strongly against them seems to us certain. Nevertheless their presentation of the subject is deemed worthy of a hearing by the literary and scientific world. Science has no prejudices and simply wants the truth without regard to pet theories or preconceptions.

It is admitted that Henry Bergh is an intelligent philanthropist. Though his name is not among the greatest for scientific attainments, yet he has been known for years as a close student of physiology and sociology, and has undoubted capacity for gathering and grouping facts on subjects of this class. No person asperses his motives, and all honor the consistent and unselfish life of one who has conferred no inconsiderable blessings on humanity. Of course Mr. Bergh believes what he writes; and his article on vaccination in the North American Review for February, in which he boldly arraigns as worthless a medical theory and practice which have prevailed for more than three quarters of a century, certainly has the merit of earnestness, however erroneous it may be in its arguments and conclusions.

It is, indeed, known to curious readers that there has always been a minority of scientific and medical authorities who have pronounced against the worth of Jenner's discovery. Mr. Bergh, in adopting this view, maintains it in no tentative or suggestive way, but asserts it with the utmost confidence and earnestness, basing his conviction on an interpretation of facts running back through the whole period since vaccination as a prophylactic was first announced to the world. He declares that, so far from the practice of vaccination having acted as a preventive of smallpox, it is demonstrated from medical annals that it has exercised not the slightest effect in this particular. Epidemics come and go in obedience to an obscure law of nature not yet comprehended by experts. "But," says Mr. Bergh, "the advocates of the system claim amelioration of the patient's case by the practice. Not even this pretension can be allowed. From official statistics collected in England it plainly appears that vaccination has no mitigating influence on this malady. On the contrary, the mortality from smallpox has steadily increased, and, furthermore, a host of other physical ills, directly produced by the vaccine treatment, have been gratuitously added. In 1870 vaccination was enforced with unexampled strictness in Paris, and, though the lymph employed was almost exclusively taken from heifers, nevertheless a very violent epidemic of smallpox raged during that winter. In four months, October, November, December and January, 6423 persons died of the malady, and in the fifteen months intervening between January 1, 1870, and March 31, 1871, the total number of deaths was 13,035. According to Mr. William Jebb, of London, in his statement presented to the American anti-vaccination league, 60 per cent. of the mortality from smallpox comes from vaccinated cases." Mr. Bergh then argues that even if it be allowed that vaccination does mitigate the virulence of the disease, "nevertheless the dreadful work goes on, willfully implanting in healthy bodies of human beings the germs of disease, from which are developed scrofula, consumption and cancer, and by which the very continuance of our race on the earth is imperilled." These are words of deep gravity, and coming from such a source, should command serious consideration. Mr. Bergh declares further that it is doubtful if there be any cowpox in nature. "The editors of the Veterinarian (England) have advertised, but in vain, for a case of cowpox. The lymph that the vaccinationists pretend to obtain from cows probably originated in horsepox or in smallpox inoculated on cows." Mr. Bergh denounces, with the utmost warmth, the barbarity and unconstitutionality of the compulsory vaccination laws. In Leicester, England, he states that thirty persons have been sent to jail for refusing to submit to this outrage; and concludes his article by the following indignant sentence: "In the opinion of the writer, since that period in the world's history which is characterized as the 'dark ages' no law has been sanctioned by any government pretending to be "popular" which surpasses in atrocity the vaccination decree." Of course Mr. Bergh is deeply in earnest or he would not write in this positive and emphatic way.

But there are very high authorities who consult the statistics and study the history of the smallpox scourge with very different results. Dr. Wm. B. Davis, of Cincinnati, whose rank as an authority brought him an invitation from the medical society of that city to deliver a lecture on the subject, reaches precisely opposite conclusions. His address, which has been given to the press as a useful contribution to knowledge, shows that before the discovery of vaccination, smallpox was by far the most formidable and fatal disease which afflicted mankind. It has lost none of its malignancy since, the deaths from the disease being one out of every three unvaccinated persons who are attacked with it. The paper states that of 342 distinguished English physicians whose opinions were sought on the subject, all but two answered that "successful vaccination confers a large exemption from attacks of smallpox, and almost absolute security against death."

When the smallpox raged with great fatality in Cincinnati in 1869, Dr. Clendenin, the health officer, said, "Not one death occurred from smallpox, in which there was unmistakable proof that the individual had previously been properly vaccinated, while, on the other hand, fully 90 per cent. of those who died of smallpox, 644 persons, had not been vaccinated. We are therefore driven to the conclusion that the lives of 580 persons, who died during that year in Cincinnati, might have been saved by vaccination."

Vaccination, the paper says, to be effective, must not only be perfect in character but sufficient in amount—the system should be well infested. Dr. Marson, of England, a physician of extended experience, from his observations at a smallpox hospital, showed that the deaths of unvaccinated persons were over one in three; of those said to have been vaccinated but having no cicatrix, one in four; of those having one cicatrice, one in eight; of those having two vaccine cicatrices, or scars, one in about forty; and of those having three cicatrices, only about one in two hundred. This, then, would show the importance of thorough and frequent vaccination. Dr. Davis adds that his own observations, extending over a period of twenty-five years, lead him to the conclusion that American physicians do not, as a rule, introduce virus enough. If this were done he has no doubt whatever of the correctness of Jenner's claim, namely: "Vaccination, duly and efficiently performed, will protect the constitution from attacks of smallpox as much as that disease itself will. I never expected it would do more, and it will not, I believe, do less."

The spirit in which one approaches the investigation of a subject doubtless has much to do in almost every case with the formation of opinions and conclusions therefrom. But study of the same class of facts and statistics, though from opposite standpoints, ought not to produce interesting divergence of opinion as to the true interpretation of the matters under inquiry. It is not probable, however, that general confidence in the efficacy of vaccination will be shaken by any assault upon it.

Our government received from England $15,500,000 in gold in payment of the Geneva award, which was invested in 5 per cent. bonds. Of this sum there were disbursed under the act creating the court of Alabama claims $9,300,000 in round numbers in payment of the claims which congress at the time of the passage of the act thought ought to be paid. Of the original award there remained over $6,000,000 undistributed. To this was added something over $1,500,000, the income of the bond investment. This sum was turned into the treasury by Mr. Sherman a few weeks after he took charge of that department; and there the money remains subject to whatever disposition congress may make of it. In making payments from the award congress recognized our premium claims and refused to recognize insurance claims. Holders of the unpaid insurance claims are mustering forces and will put forth great effort to secure payment.

With the hope of protecting the treasury from fraudulent pension claims, Mr. Farwell of Illinois has introduced a bill in the house directing publication by every pension agent on or about the 1st day of January every year in a newspaper having general circulation in the county, a complete list of persons drawing pensions at that office. It also provides that the commissioner of pensions shall cause to be published at the beginning of each year in the same manner a complete list of all pension cases pending and all cases rejected, the list of rejected cases not to include any passed upon before this act becams a law. It would be well if somebody would follow this up with regulations putting a stop to the operations of thieving pension agents.

A committee of the New Orleans chamber of commerce recently visited the mouth of the Mississippi river and carefully sounded the outlet formed by the Eads system of jetties. They were accompanied and assisted in the work by several practical men, and omitted no detail of thorough examination. They report finding twenty-six feet of water at the most shoal point when the tide-gauge indicated one foot below mean high tide. The average depth in the outlet was found to be about thirty feet and a forty-foot sound failed to find bottom at many casts. The committee unanimously reported that the jetties are completely successful.

The wreck of the bark Rainier, adrift and abandoned, about the latitude of Coos Bay and some 200 miles off shore, has been seen by three vessels which have arrived at San Francisco and by the one which arrived at Coos Bay with her crew. This wreck is adrift right in the track of vessels to and from Puget Sound and Alaska, and not far out of the path of vessels in the Chinese trade. Each of the vessels by which the wreck has been seen was derelict in that they did not stop to blow it up so it might sink. A few pounds of powder would have done the work and removed a danger.

Portland is overrun with gamblers and "tough" characters. Our city reports—and it must be remembered that THE OREGONIAN does not seek what is unclean or unwholesome in news—fairly reek with crime. A well managed and vigilant police which does its duty every day and makes no fuss about it should be appreciated.

The amount of speculation that has been going on in France may be judged by the fact that during the past year the companies established in Paris with a capital of more than $20,000 each represent a capital of $500,000,000. This exceeds by $10,000,000 the amount similarly invested during the same time in London.

"There is no truth in reports that Conkling aspires to be governor of New York," said one of his friends recently. He added: "Mr. Conkling has to-day the refusal of a cabinet position, the treasury portfolio, and perhaps he will be induced to take it, but I doubt very much if he will accept."

The German press is obliged to speak gingerly of the late imperial rescript. It dares not even reproduct the expressions of foreign newspapers on the subject.

The census returns show that there are about 63,000 insane persons in the United States—not counting Guiteau,—or one to every 777 inhabitants.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Indications for California, fair weather. For northern Pacific coast regions, cloudy weather with rain.

CITY.

UNPUNISHED OUTRAGE.—Monday night a few minutes before 8 o'clock, an assault was made upon two young ladies on the corner of Tenth and Clay streets, no doubt with most fiendish designs. These ladies, who ask that their names be kept out of print, were returning from a house in the southern part of the city, where they had been sewing, to their home when two men rushed and seized them. One ruffian tried to gag them by forcing a handkerchief into their mouths, and succeeded in so doing with one of them. The other lady being stronger resisted the man, and by screaming at the top of her voice aroused the people in the neighborhood, and the men fearing the results of being caught, fled toward First street. The ladies could give no accurate description of the men further than they were both comparatively young, wore large rough overcoats and slouch hats, and one of them had a mustache of dark color; the other man was smooth shaven, and not so tall as the first mentioned. The men did not attempt to rob the ladies, and said nothing while trying to overpower them, only doing everything they could to gag them. Both young ladies are of respectable parentage, of modest deportment, and earn their livelihood as seamstresses. How would it do for the police to enforce the vagrancy act against about fifty thieving loafers who are eye-sores on First street? It would cost the city some money to board them, but a little work on the streets would compensate for the expense.

THE CASCADE ROBBERS.—Fred McCloud, Wm. McCloud, R. N. Darrough, W. H. Cornelius and A. Lawrence, the men who are charged with having robbed H. A. Levens at the Cascades a few days since, were yesterday arraigned before Justice Davis for examination. Lawrence was bound over in the sum of $500, Fred McCloud in $2000, Wm. McCloud in $300 Darrough in $1000 and Cornelius $500. Yesterday a man named Charles Crowley and a woman of bad repute named Lily Parker were arrested, charged with being implicated in the robbery. By consent it was agreed that both the woman and Crowley await the action of the grand jury to-day. The McCloud brothers were released, having furnished bonds. The others are confined in the county jail. Hon. T. B. Handley, of Wasco county, is counsel for the McCloud brothers, J. A. Campbell for Darrough and Lawrence, and Hon. R. Williams for Cornelius. The McCloud brothers are sons of Wm. McCloud, a well known and honorable merchant of Dilley, Washington county. Two witnesses who slept in the same room with him swore that Williams was five miles from the Cascades on the night of the robbery and did not leave the house. Defense was reserved for Fred. Their reputation at home was always good. They were in the employ of the O. R. & N. Co. for the past year.

ANGIUS BOUND OVER.—August Angius and George Cook were examined before Judge Stearns yesterday, the former for shooting Nicholas Arat in a saloon on First street, between Taylor and Salmon, and the latter as being implicated in the matter. Several witnesses were called, among who was Capt. Schneider, proprietor of the saloon in which the trouble took place. His statement, published in yesterday's issue of this paper, is in substance the same as he gave on the stand, with one exception. He stated that Angius, not Cook, struck Arat with his fist, all the testimony given tended to show that the attack made upon Arat was uncalled for and unprovoked, and that he was an ordinarily quiet and well behaved man. Angius still keeps up the crazy dodge, rolling his eyes and speaking in short and disconnected sentences, and making himself decidedly tiresome by giving too much of it to his hearers. Cook seems careless as to what comes of the affair, and the evidence, though not decidedly against him, tends to show that he kicked the man after Angius had knocked him down. Angius was held to answer in the sum of $5000, which up to a late hour last night had not been furnished. Cook's case was taken under advisement and will be decided to-day.

STORMY DAY.—About three o'clock yesterday morning a very strong wind set in from the south and continued until nearly dark. Towards noon the wind, which whistled through telephone wires, shook windows and rattled shutters, and lowering clouds, brought vividly to mind the great storm of Jan. 9, 1880. During the afternoon heavy rain fell and few persons whose business did not require it appeared on the streets. About one o'clock the wind blew so strong against the large Stark street ferry boat as to snap the cable. Communication by cable line was consequently interrupted for three hours until steam could be raised in the Katie Ladd, which after four o'clock made regular trips. Quite a number who were venturesome enough crossed in drenching rain in a skiff manned by men from the ferry boat. Neither the Jefferson street nor the O. & C. ferries were detained. After dark the wind died down and the rain nearly ceased.

DALEY HELD TO ANSWER.—Henry Daley was yesterday under examination in the police court on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon, preferred by William Gray, a miller. Miss Lopo, to whom Gray was talking when he was assaulted, was called by the prosecution to testify, along with a Miss Freeman and I. S. Bills. The facts elicited by the testimony are virtually the same as published in THE SUNDAY OREGONIAN. While the main Bills was loth to repeat the vile epithets which Daley had used before assaulting Gray, Miss Lopo rattled them off in a glib manner several times, making her testimony disgusting. When Daley took the stand he, along with his counsel, seemed to be very anxious to make known what had happened between Miss Lopo and Daley previous to the row, but the questions put in that direction were challenged and overruled. Daley was bound over in the sum of $500.

BURGLARY.—Sunday evening the residence of Mrs. H. M. Smith, on the corner of Tenth and Stark streets, was broken into by burglars while the family were at church, and a clock, clothes wringer, a pair of blankets, a lot of butter, eggs and canned fruit stolen. A bottle of medicine, the property of Mr. McF. Patton, a sprainer of the port, who rooms at the house, was also taken. The burglars gained admittance by prying open the back window. It seems that they were not particular as to what plunder they took, anything they could get away with being in order, which goes to prove that there are a number of White men still in America whose tastes are not aesthetic. Because the clock was stolen it is inferred that the old offender Procrastination was of the party.

CASE CONTINUED.—A charge of assault and battery was preferred against Edward Soel yesterday by Mrs. Carrie Smith, who resides near the intersection of Washington and B streets. She swore in court that Soel, who had been rooming at her house, had beat and kicked her while she was attempting to keep a constable away from her husband, for whom he had a warrant. Soel plead that he was only holding the woman, in order to assist the constable, and did not kick or beat her. The case was continued until to-day.

LECTURE BY PROF. CONDON.—The fourth lecture of the social science course at the Unitarian church is given by Prof. Condon, of the State University, this Wednesday evening. He needs no introduction to the public, and his lecture will be sure to furnish food for thought. It is entitled, "The Changeable and the Unchangeable in the Forces of Social Science."

TRIED AND ACQUITTED.—Joseph Seppich was arrested Monday on a charge of assault and battery, preferred by Harry Mace, and furnished $20 security for his appearance in Justice Petrain's court yesterday, where, after asking for a jury, he was tried and acquitted. Mace, the prosecuting witness, was at one time a runner for an Astoria sailor boarding house.

NEW ADDITION.—A plat of a new addition, named Wilson's addition to Portland, was filed in the clerk's office yesterday by George Good. It lies partly in the city limits in the northwest portion of the town and consists of four double blocks and parts of two single blocks. Every lot is said to have been sold before the plat was filed.

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY.—Yesterday morning as Mrs. J. C. La Banleur was walking on Seventh street, a hoodlum about twenty years old, attempted to snatch her purse. Fortunately the strap was about her wrist, and strong enough to prevent the theft. Mrs. L. screamed and the thief ran towards the river at break neck pace.

LISTEN FOR THE HORN.—The O. R. & N. Co. have given notice to all interested that they will fire blasts on their line in East Portland between 12 and 12:30 each working day. Warning will always be given by blowing a horn immediately before the powder blast.

SHOULD BE REPAIRED.—Complaints reach THE OREGONIAN from a number of teamsters about the almost impassable condition of B street, just beyond the gulch. For 100 feet the planking has rotted away and a loaded wagon will sink to the hub in mud.

LECTURE.—Rev. Dr. Jones of Petaluma, Cal., will deliver his inimitable lecture on "Courtship and Marriage" at Y. M. C. A. hall next Saturday evening for the benefit of the Open Temperance Association.

TAKEN TO THE PENITENTIARY.—Ah Sing, who was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary for making unlawful speculations in poultry, was taken to Salem yesterday in charge of Lee Backinstos.

LIBELED.—The British ship Charlwood has been libeled on an order from the U. S. court for the sum of $900, claimed to be due Colombo Victoria, cook of the vessel on her inward passage.

THE SULLIVAN-RYAN FIGHT.

Remarkable Interest in the Brutal Event in Portland.

It is extraordinary that four or five hundred men in a place four thousand miles distant should feel an interest in knowing which of two men, both strangers to Portland, could hit the hardest blows with the fist and best withstand assaults of his opponent in an enclosure—all taking place under the "laws, rules and regulations" of the American prize ring. Nevertheless it is true that half a thousand—perhaps more—persons expressed as much interest in the fight between Sullivan and Ryan at Mississippi City yesterday as the average citizen felt in the verdict of the jury who convicted Guiteau. Several sporting men knew Sullivan in his palmier days, and spoke familiarly of his "muscles," which were seven inches broad, and his tremendous chest, and gave the exact circumference of his arms and legs, and the particular date, with amount of rounds, first "bloody" and first knockdowns in previous "battles." Ryan was also well known. In fact, the knowledge possessed by the sporting fraternity of Portland in matters pertaining to the prize ring is astonishing. Not less than $2000 was wagered here on the result, the largest stake being $200. Most of the bets were even, though a few offered odds in favor of Sullivan. The coming "mill" was the principal topic of conversation in bar rooms Monday night, and the result was anxiously awaited yesterday afternoon.

As usual THE OREGONIAN was applied to for information, the first inquiry coming by telephone shortly after noon. Then, every ten or fifteen minutes somebody, who to judge from his anxious look had money wagered on the result, would tramp upstairs to get "pointers" from the telegraph editor. The result was received by this paper about 1 o'clock, and was given to the public. Last night there were a number of jubilant sporting men about the various saloons, whose tills received many a silver piece from those who laid their money on Sullivan. Only two men could be found who had bet on Ryan.

CHURCH MISSION.

The first service of this mission was held in the Trinity church last evening. The weather was exceedingly inclement so that the congregation was quite small. The following clergy were present in the chancel: Bishop Paddock of Washington territory, Bishop Morris of Oregon, and the Rev. Messrs. Anderson, Chambers, Nicholson, Plummer, Rosenberg, J. H. W. and John W. Sellwood, Stevens and Woods. The service was conducted by the Rev. Messrs. Woods, Stevens and Nicholson. In the absence of Bishop Scillitoe, Bishop Morris presided. His sermon was from Heb. xi, 27: "He endured, as seeing Him who is invisible." It was a sermon well calculated to give encouragement to all who are called upon to meet the opposition and discouragements of life. We hope to be able to give an extract from it in our edition of Thursday next.

The services for to-day are litany service, the administration of the holy communion and an address by Bishop Paddock at 9 A. M.; at 7:30 P. M., prayer with sermon by Rev. Mr. Chambers of Salem. Clerical meeting for the reading of papers and discussion will be held in the Sunday school room adjoining the church immediately after the close of morning service.

YAMHILL COUNTY NEWS.

[REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

LAFAYETTE, Feb. 7.

Rev. T. L. Jones is suffering from a severe attack of "epizootic."

Quite a number of cases of typhoid fever are reported in the vicinity of this place. Some of them are lying in a precarious condition.

Already the wire pullers are at work for the coming June election, and candidates for the various offices are in the field together with their friends "fixing things" for the primaries.

Rev. J. Hoberg had quite a scare yesterday. Some Chinamen were cutting fir trees back of his house. He and his daughter Georgie were standing near when one of the trees fell the wrong way, coming down with a crash, striking Georgie and knocking her down. Mr. Hoberg thought she was killed, but on getting her out found that she had but received a few slight bruises.

The first concert of the choral society took place last night, and beyond doubt was the finest musical treat ever listened to in Lafayette. The M. E. church was filled to its utmost capacity. The plan of giving first-class entertainments for ten cents seems to take with our citizens, judging from the way they turned out. The next of the series will be given on March 6th.

COMBINATION IN MONTANA.

The Northern Pacific and Utah Northern to Co-operate in that Territory.

The Helena Herald of Jan. 24th has the following which will be of interest to all who are watching the progress of the Northern Pacific:

Private telegraphic advices received in this city from New York yesterday throw additional light on the railroad situation from the standpoint of protracted negotiations between the Union Pacific and Northern Pacific directories. From what we are able to ascertain it appears to be settled that an agreement has been arrived at by which, instead of paralleling their tracks from the Little Blackfoot to Butte, a third rail between the points named is to be laid. To this end the Utah & Northern is now to proceed down from Silver Bow with a standard gauge road bed, the extra rail which is to be provided for by the N. P., and the three railed track is also to be laid with uniform rails of the standard class. The switch from Silver Bow to the vicinity of Butte is to be similarly served whenever it is required.

It is a matter of transportation power simply as to the amount of material the Narrow Gauge will be able to deliver to the Northern Pacific the coming summer. It is arranged that 20,000 tons of rails shall be hauled to the Little Blackfoot, if load enough can be handed in addition to the other tonnage. To do this large additional carriage the U. & N. will be required to double its present rolling stock, and then have its hands full to get away with the job.

Mr. Dillon yesterday said that the Utah & Northern would this year be built to Helena. By this we understand that the track, which parallels the Northern Pacific from the Three Forks, is to be built separate and distinct, as originally projected. There is said to be information from Supt. Kimball at Omaha, corroborating this declared intention of the Union Pacific people in New York.

Two days later the Herald published the following additional article. Its statements correspond with information received here from other sources touching one important point, namely, that the first connection of the Pacific northwest with the east will probably be over the Northern Pacific and Utah Northern, by way of Ogden and the Union Pacific, and that this connection may be made within one year from the present time:

As anticipated by the Herald in its issue of Wednesday last, the Northern Pacific graders have been withdrawn from Silver Bow canyon, and all work on the contemplated branch line has ceased. The Utah & Northern will proceed with such work in the canyon as the weather will permit, and in the spring will rapidly advance its grade and track to the mouth of the Little Blackfoot. From Silver Bow down to the Northern Pacific junction, a distance of about 30 miles, the roadbed will be of standard width and a heavy three railed track laid. It is a question by those acquainted with the equipment of the narrow gauge whether that road can, in addition to handling its other business, deliver any considerable amount of iron for the N. P. the coming summer. It can undoubtedly obtain the requisite number of cars, but the locomotives will be difficult to procure. Presuming that President Dillon and associates are earnestly intent on extending the trunk line of the U. & N. from Dillon to Helena this year, as a couple of days since was declared in New York, the movement north of iron for narrow gauge use will of itself largely tax the capacity of the rolling stock at present on the road. Should the Northern Pacific be able to obtain for itself the delivery of 20,000 tons of rails alluded to yesterday, its track could be advanced from the Little Blackfoot to connect this season with the western end at Missoula. This would secure this year through connection, over the N. P., U. & N. and U. P. roads from the Pacific to the Atlantic seaboards.

MIKECHA OR NIKECHA!

PENDLETON, Or., Feb. 4.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In your Friday's issue you speak in the locals about the station on Meachem Creek, 22 miles from Pendleton. Its name you say is Mikechs. I have reason to believe that it is "Nikecha," the meaning of which is "Don't know; can't understand." The last syllable is pronounced with a hiss, a similar sound to the word used when trying to silence children, "sh." It may be "Hi-kee-che,"—to look, to see, etc." Anyway there is no such word in the Indian dialect as "Mikechs." It is either "Nikechs," "Nikechs," or "Hikeche." J.

A Rebekah degree lodge, I. O. O. F., was organized in Milton recently, with 30 charter members.

The thermometer was 10 degrees below zero in La Grande on the 1st inst. and 15 degrees below on the 2d.

Barry Brothers have purchased in Umatilla county 600 head of horses, which with others they will drive east.

Miss Dora, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lucy of Pendleton, died in that place on the 30th ult., aged about 19 years.

Ryan Brothers, celebrated cattle men, are in Umatilla county and have purchased about 30,000 head for their eastern drive. Houser & Evans of Cheyenne are also in that county buying sheep, and have already a flock of about 20,000, recently purchased.

Mrs. Nancy Reynolds died at the residence of her son in Umatilla county on the 24 inst., aged 96 years. She was in possession of her faculties up to the time of her death, which was quiet and peaceful as though going to sleep. She was born in Glasgow, Scotland, and was the mother of James and John Reynolds, both well known pioneer residents of Walla Walla valley.

Leader: Within a radius of 20 miles of Heppner, Umatilla county, there are over 200,000 sheep. It is safe to assume that these will average at least six pounds of wool apiece or 1,200,000 pounds, which at an average price of 20 cents per pound yields the handsome sum of $240,000 a year. It is true of the vicinity of Heppner that the sheep have already driven off the horses and cattle to a great extent, and now it seems as if the granger was pressing hard on the heels of the herder.

The new Masonic hall in Marshfield and furnishing the same cost $4000.

The new knitters received by the Ashland Manufacturing company do excellent work.

Mrs. A. E. Dean, wife of B. W. Dean of Willow Springs, Jackson county, died on the 1st inst., aged 19 years.

The north channel formed by the Coquille breakwater is gaining in depth, while the south channel is shoaling.

A Jacksonville man named Johnson recently cut an oak stump near that place and obtained therefrom 40 pounds of honey.

It took the stage eight hours to make the distance between Jacksonville and Ashland last Sunday, or at the rate of two miles an hour.

J. L. Carter, an old and highly respected citizen of Jackson county, died at his home in Ashland on the 1st inst., aged about 65 years.

Sleighing and snowballing were numbered among the Jackson county sports last week. Farming and mining was entirely suspended by the frost.

Utter City, Coos county, is supposed to be the most eathetic place on the continent. The freedom of the city has been tendered to Oscar Wilde.

A man named Bergson is serving out a fine of $16 and costs in the Jackson county jail for assaulting an old lady named Allen, living on Wagner creek.

The total receipts of the municipal government of Jacksonville during 1881, were $1301 75; expenditures during the same period, $1725 10, leaving a deficit of $500 35.

Green Bros. of Galice creek propose running another tunnel before long. They are now taking out very rich rock, some of which is estimated to be worth $1000 a ton.

A. Hoover has purchased of H. Morris his farm, lying near the north fork of the Coquille, containing 102½ acres—30 acres of which is bottom land—paying therefor $360.

The house of Mrs. Sutton, widow of J. M. Sutton, in Alkali valley in Lake county, was robbed lately of everything that could be carried away, including some valuable jewelry.

Capt. Wolfe, of the wrecked bark Rainier was 40 years old at the time of his death and leaves a widow in Town Gamble, having been married there in April, 1880. Ex Miss Theresa Knits.

John Jackson, the cattle king, has recently purchased 1500 head of stock cattle, increasing his band in Lake county to 12,000. He has two fine jacks, worth $1700 each, and is largely engaged in raising mules.

Geo. Loosley of Lake county has purchased a half interest in Thatcher & Worden's boat, the Gen. Howard, paying $1250 therefor. The craft will hereafter ply the waters of Klamath lake regularly, engaging in all kinds of traffic.

Jacksonville Sentinel: For the finest sample of sorghum syrup we have yet seen we are under obligations to August Rehkopf, of Applegate, made from cane raised on his farm. It is equal, if not superior, to the best imported syrup, and has none of the raw taste usually peculiar to sorghum. Mr. Rehkopf only made about fifteen gallons last year as an experiment, but proposes to enlarge next season.

Last week Jas. O. McCully, who is running the pack train for the railroad surveyors on Cow creek, made a horrible discovery in the Cow creek mountains. There was out hunting deer, accompanied by Mr. Kirkland, and came across an old cabin, in which they found the dead body of a man. It was lying on the clay floor and Mr. McCully writes that it was a terrible sight that he will take to remember. The authorities were sent for at once, but the result of their investigations or who the deceased was has not yet been learned.

Moore & Horan of Skagit, are putting in a pole road at their logging camp. It will be a mile and a half long and will reach a body of 12,000,000 feet of timber. The cars on this road will be hauled by horses, ox teams doing the work on skidded roads.

The settlers on Beaver marsh a few miles east of La Conner, have been working hard during the past few months, constructing the necessary dikes and dams to protect them from the waters of the Skagit. Some $900 worth of work has been put on these dikes this season. This body of land is of unbounded fertility and will give a good account of itself in a year or two, when the settlers now struggling to get their lands reclaimed and under cultivation will be independently well off.
